DETAILED ACTION

Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 29-30 and 34-35, drawn to a liquid crystal display panel and a method for driving the liquid crystal display panel, classified in class 345, subclass 87.
  - II. Claims 23-28 and 31-33, drawn to an arrangement of a module driver, classified in class 349, subclass 56.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because different driver can be used. The subcombination has separate utility such as driving different display panels other than the liquid crystal display panel..
3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

I) first embodiment, Fig. 4, a portion of the gate driving signal transmitting line (335) passes through the inside of the gate driving IC.

II) second embodiment, Fig. 5, any portion of a gate driving signal transmitting line (335b) acting as a resistance component does not pass through the inside of a gate driving IC.

III) third embodiment, Fig. 6, a gate driving signal generated from PCB is applied a plurality of gate driving signal timing modules in such a manner to minimize the signal difference between the last gate line and the adjacent first gate line.

The species are independent or distinct because each species is directed to a different driving arrangement.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 23 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
